From the GATS Coordinator

Our journey began with a Global Education Network meeting at the World Evangelism Center in October 2006. Two of our visionary Regional Directors, Rev. Robert K. Rodenbush and Rev. Jerry Richardson, had presented a proposal for such a gathering. At the invitation of the Director of Education/AIM, Rev. L. Shirley, an educational representative from each region, joined our Regional Directors for three days of meetings to discuss various aspects of improving the way we go about theological training globally. In that meeting, the Global Education Committee, the Global Association of Theological Studies, and the Global University of Theological Studies were envisioned. They were later approved by the General Director of Global Missions, Rev. Bruce Howell, Planning for Progress, and finally, the Global Missions Board in February 2007. That was the easy part. Undertaking the global educational advancement program is a gigantic task and has not been accomplished overnight. It is an ongoing process. It evolves!

Let me share a story about a lady I've worked with. Her name is Sister Else Lund. She symbolizes a host of dedicated Bible school teachers across the globe. Where would we be without them?

Arnold Cook once said, "Those that live in the past are blind in one eye. Those who never consult the past are blind in both eyes." As we look at the future let us pause to look at the past.

"A student... who is fully trained will be like his teacher."
(See Luke 6:40)

"The true test of Bible school relevance is like a well. Someone has said, 'It's only what is in the well, that will come up in the bucket.'"

*Bryan D. Abernathy
Director of Promotion*

The odds of success were against Sister Lund, but she could not be stopped - childhood polio, a lady in a man's world; she walked on despite coups, church problems, and tropical diseases. She has climbed hills to mission stations and walked miles down jungle paths to preach and teach hungry souls. She spent over forty-two years teaching on foreign soil. She has sometimes been on the last plane out of a war-torn nation. What kept her? What were her weapons?

Armed with the assurance of a still small voice, she held two weapons in her hands—in one, a tattered Bible, and in the other, a set of notes—not the recent release of the newest resource—no, a set of notes treasured for nearly half a century.

She stood in front of eager-to-learn students and whispered: "They can take anything from me, but please, not my Bible."

"You need a study Bible of your own. Underline that Bible verse. It is very important. Have you underlined it?"

What caused her and Bible school teachers everywhere to go on?

“Brother Richardson,” she once respectfully remarked, “I still have a lot of TEACH in me.”

Is not that the reason why Bible school teachers spend a lifetime in preparation for the classroom? That same burden grips the heart of every one of them. They all have one thing in common—their strong belief in the training of laborers for the worldwide harvest. They are pursuing ministerial excellence.

A Bible teacher’s greatest joy is to leave the trace of eternity on the hearts of men and women—the privilege of investing in the future. They take what they have been taught and pass it on to others. What do we see in this lady—Sister Else Lund? It is passion, a passion to teach. The same passion can be seen in every Bible school teacher. Their passion for training and love for students guarantee success in life’s classroom. There is some TEACH left in the soul of every teacher. But there is another side of passion and the willingness to teach.

We cannot teach unless someone is willing to be taught. God has placed within the human heart the natural desire to learn. It is also a spiritual thirst, a desire to know God. We see the passion to be taught in the eyes of countless people. It is seen in each of our students in our overseas Bible schools.

“Teach them
them.
Teach them
to SEND
them.”

James Poitras
Missionary

That passion was manifested in village pastors—untrained—who walked fifty-five kilometers to attend a short-term training program. It was seen in a young man who begged for a copy of a Bible school textbook and then clutched and treasured it close to his heart when he received it. Our passion for teaching is only equaled by our passion for learning. They deserve our best—quality training whether they are in a poor nation or a rich one, regardless of how developed or undeveloped the church in their nation may be. And that summarizes the quest of the Global Association of Theological Studies.

There is a lot of TEACH left in us. Let us just say, “We’ve been brought into the classroom for such a time as this!”

Enjoy the GATS Journey,

James G. Poitras, Coordinator
Global Association of Theological Studies

(The Global Association of Theological Studies was officially launched at the School of Missions in 2007)

GATS Mission Statement

The mission of the Global Association of Theological Studies (GATS) of the United Pentecostal Church International (UPCI) and its membership nations, is to provide a flagship international training program of excellence that serves to develop and equip men and women to reach their maximum potential in apostolic ministry.

Scriptural Mandate for GATS

“The Teacher searched to find just the right words, and what he wrote was upright and true” (Ecclesiastes 12:10, NIV).

“Go and make disciples of all nations” (Matthew 28:19, NIV).

“Go...teach all nations...Teaching them to observe all things whatsoever I have commanded you” (Matthew 28:19-20, KJV).

“And the [instructions] which you have heard from me along with many witnesses, transmit and entrust [as a deposit] to reliable and faithful men who will be competent and qualified to teach others also” (2 Timothy 2:2, AMP).

Motto of GATS

“Pursuing Ministerial Excellence”

Comprehensive Objectives of GATS

Our comprehensive objectives (expected results) include:

Preserving the Message. Nurture a faith community and a center of life-long learning to preserve apostolic doctrine for generations to come (2 Timothy 2:2; Philippians 3:1; 2 John 1-2). Equip ministers to continue steadfastly in the apostle’s doctrine (Acts 2:42; Hebrews 2:1); and to defend it within their cultural context (Jude 3; 1 Peter 3:15).

Providing the Methods. Explore the needs of a diverse and ever-changing society and develop innovative print and non-print training and learning resources that are relevant to our cross-cultural environment. At the same time, such resources remain biblical and faithful to God’s Word.

Producing the Ministry. Prepare Spirit-filled, Spirit-empowered, and Spirit-directed students for excellence in apostolic ministry (Ephesians 4:11-12).

Propagating the Mission. Train and motivate students to possess a vision for, and participation in, global evangelism—preaching and teaching the whole Gospel to the whole world (Proverbs 29:18; Luke 24:47). Cultivate leadership development to facilitate and sustain the harvest the Lord continues to give His Church.

The Motivation Behind GATS

You may be wondering, “What is the motivation behind GATS?”

Let’s begin with a few things that the motivation behind GATS is not. It’s not about a quest for degrees or an effort to be like any other church or organization. It’s not about moving toward secular or liberal arts education. It’s more about preserving and propagating apostolic truth.

It’s all about souls!
“Souls
rescued.
Souls
rooted.
Souls
readied.”

Bruce A Howell,
Former General Director of Global Missions

It’s not about drawing a circle and keeping other approved training programs out of the picture. It’s about drawing a circle and bringing in all who want to join this effort.

We want all our schools to be part of the Global Association of Theological Studies and will do our best to help them reach their training goals.

GATS is about encouraging each other to press ever higher and closer to God. It’s about UNITY. It’s working together to develop training programs that meet our needs. Studying God’s Word with brothers and sisters worldwide is exciting for students. Unity of purpose (one mind) increases learning possibilities. God blesses unity, especially for one of His ideas – Studying to show ourselves approved unto Him (2 Timothy 2:15). The connection with others of like precious faith will bring joy and hope to everyone involved.

It’s about LOOKING BACK over the history of training programs globally and admitting, “It’s not what it ought to be. It’s not all that it can be. But, by the grace of God, neither is it what it was.” It’s come a long way, thanks to men like Ralph Reynolds, author of the International Alpha Bible Course; Rev. Robert K. Rodenbush, responsible for the Overseas Ministries Training Course; and others too numerous to mention. They set the pace.

“Since it is not granted us to live long on this earth, it is logical to give our best and our most to something that will last eternally ... reaching sinners and training saints.”

Robert K. Rodenbush,

“The Future of the church in a nation depends on the health of the Bible School.”

Shane Hayes

What Is GATS About?

GATS presses on toward the goal its forefathers established. It's about LOOKING FORWARD. It's about VISION and COMMITMENT to reaching the world with the apostolic message.

It's about MINISTRY—meeting the needs of advancing global society and EQUIPPING laborers to minister effectively in this century.

It's about a CALLING- those who work with GATS believe that we have been called into the kingdom for such a time as this. This is the next step in what God would have us do with our training programs.

It's about SERVICE—serving God and others by using talents, skills, and expertise to help missionaries, national leaders, and students reach their maximum potential and effectiveness in the kingdom of God.

It's about SHARING – what we have learned and what works best for us – and being willing to share it with fellow missionaries and nationals around the world.

It's about PREPARATION – for the future and preparing leaders for the great harvest that the Lord has promised in these last days.

It's about RELEVANCE – developing a curriculum, a training program, a staff and students designed for and relevant to our needs while remaining faithful to God's Word.

It's about IMPROVING – raising the standard of ministerial excellence throughout the world.

It's about ACCESS – providing a distance education program, especially in areas where training is not available.

It's about QUALITY and EQUALITY – that students around the globe would have equal opportunity to receive the same quality training regardless of how rich or poor the country may be or how developed or undeveloped the United Pentecostal Church International may be in that country.

Paul confessed, “Not that I have already obtained all this, or have already been made perfect...I do not consider myself yet to have taken hold of it. But one thing I do...I press on toward the goal...” (Philippians 3:12-14, NIV).

This attitude permeates the Christian life and is an important premise of the Global Association of Theological Studies. We strive for excellence—for quality—and we accomplish this through continuous improvement. We want to do better—to be better. Our purpose is to prepare (and be) quality leaders. Let us push toward our goal!

“The depth of Bible teaching determines the width of people reaching.”

How GATS Operates

- 1) GATS is administrated through the Global Education Committee (GEC).
- 2) GATS membership nations agree to use the GATS curriculum and comply with GATS policy as stated in this manual.
- 3) GATS offers a core curriculum in five levels.
- 4) Annual faculty development seminars help train and equip Bible school faculty.
- 5) Regional and Subregional GATS Representatives promote GATS and assist GATS nations in their region.
- 6) GATS oversees textbook/curriculum development for courses for which we need more resources. This is coordinated through the GATS Curriculum Development Committee (CDC).
- 7) GATS develops and maintains websites in major world languages that include individual subject course objectives, course outlines, recommended textbooks, course packs, and other important documents and information.
- 8) Translation is a significant component of GATS. We are working to make our courses available in major world languages. Our immediate priorities are English, Spanish, French, Portuguese, Russian, Hindi, Arabic, and Mandarin. Additionally, many nations around the world are translating GATS materials into local languages. GATS will work with nations desiring to do so.
- 9) The bachelor's degree program is currently being launched in several nations. This level of study currently focuses on national leadership and Bible school faculty.
- 10) Course packet resources, providing supplementary material for all our courses, are currently being compiled and translated.

Benefits of GATS

Everyone benefits from GATS. Here's how:

Benefits to the Students

1) Being involved in a global training program rather than merely a local, national, or regional program.

2) Being connected globally to other students in the GATS program.

3) Having equal opportunity to receive the same quality training regardless of how rich or poor the country may be or how developed or undeveloped the United Pentecostal Church International may be in that country.

“An educator is an archer who holds the bow of knowledge and propels students to a designated target.”

Lloyd Shirley Former Director of Education/AIM

4) The GATS student's Certificate/Diploma/Degree is recognized (and understood) in other nations.

5) In some nations, this Certificate/Diploma/Degree qualifies GATS students to teach religion in public schools.

6) For most students, the GATS program is the most economical avenue for receiving a Certificate/Diploma/Degree in Theological Studies.

7) Through the GATS distance education program, students can access training when a Bible school is unavailable in their country or where distance or responsibilities prevent them from attending a centralized, residential, or full-time school. This program is still in the development stage.

Benefits to the Missionary

1) GATS provides the missionary with a high-quality, doctrinally accurate curriculum for use in training.

2) Participating in the GATS program saves the missionaries valuable time in compiling the curriculum for their training program. GATS is available to assist them in organizing and administrating a Bible school program.

3) The missionary is globally connected with missionaries and students around the world involved in the GATS program.

Pursuing His Purpose...
Go...
Reach...
Teach.

- 4) Bible schools approved by GATS are not required to submit a curriculum and staff listing with the annual budget and curriculum form since this will already be on file with Global Missions.
- 5) The vision of distance education is that where applicable, appropriate, and advantageous, GATS saves travel and boarding funds as students study online. Distance education students are bonded with missionaries as the missionary serves as program facilitators and educational mentors in their respective nations. GATS Distance Education is currently in the development stage.

Benefits to the Nation

- 1) The GATS membership nations are connected globally, as all nations involved receive the same quality of education.

“Training tomorrow’s leaders is not an option, it is a command, it is the heart of God, and it is the future of the church.”

*Joseph Bir
Missionary*

2) A nation receiving a regional missionary (or a minister from another country) that has completed the GATS program, whichever level (Certificate/Diploma/Degree), will know precisely the minimum standard of their education.

3) For nations having multiple Bible schools, those enrolled with GATS will have a standardized curriculum and hours.

- 4) GATS membership nations greatly benefit from the faculty development program, which grows each teacher and elevates that nation’s education level.
- 5) Strong, effectively trained local pastors, in strong local churches, produce a strong national church.
- 6) Every nation will receive a digital bi-annual ‘Global Education Insights’ newsletter. This will keep the nations connected with reports, valuable information, announcements, and resources.
- 7) GATS Websites in English, French, Spanish, and Portuguese make Textbooks, Course Packs, Training materials, and other GATS resources readily available to every GATS membership nation. Materials in different languages can be requested by contacting gats@upci.org.
- 8) The GATS Administration Team, Regional and Subregional GATS Representatives, and Global Educators can assist the national Bible School programs upon request.

- 1) GATS influences Bible schools and nationalized churches when there is no resident missionary.
- 2) GATS provides a measurement system for nations and regions to understand how they compare their training with other nations.
- 3) GATS establishes a standard to ascertain each nation's training level and charts a course for improvement or development.
- 4) GATS is determined to lift the standard of ministerial preparation globally. The dividend is that ministers in each region are better equipped to facilitate revival and the harvest of souls the Lord is giving us.
- 5) Through the distance education program, GATS is instrumental in training potential ministers in unreached areas throughout the region or in areas without Bible schools.
- 6) GATS provides a highly developed bachelor's degree program for training top-level leaders for national administration and teaching in our Bible schools.
- 7) GATS is instrumental in training regional missionaries.
- 8) Amid diversity and wide variations in people and philosophy, GATS brings uniformity to the fundamental Bible curriculum taught in Bible schools worldwide.
- 9) GATS allows us to network with education specialists around the globe, producing synergy. As the old proverb says, "Many hands make light work!"

Introducing New Regional GATS Representatives

~Introduction Letter

An official communication from the GATS office and the regional director should be sent to the region. This will serve as an introduction to the new GATS representative. Once this has occurred, the newly appointed GATS representative should follow up with communication with the region.

~Transition

Ideally, a transition should take place between the outgoing and incoming GATS representatives. This transition time may vary, but it should be between three and six months.

It is suggested that all GATS representatives participate in a faculty education program to observe and learn the process before leading one independently.

~Orientation

The outgoing GATS representative should sit down with the incoming GATS representative to make sure that the following points are covered:

1. Work through the GATS policy and training manual with expanded insight from the outgoing GATS representative.
2. Take time to highlight the job description from the policy and training manual.
3. The incoming GATS representative should accompany the outgoing GATS representative to the first Global Education Committee meeting. This will allow the incoming GATS representative an opportunity to explain what is required of a GATS representative during GEC meetings and offer hands-on explanations and insights.
4. A complete transfer of all electronic GATS regional files is significant. This should include but is not limited to the following:
  - a) Record of faculty education programs, including locations, dates, lessons, and facilitators who taught.
  - b) Membership nation information, including names and contact information for the local Bible school representatives.

In the case that an orientation and transitional period between the outgoing GATS representative and the incoming GATS representative is impossible, then the orientation and transitional period will be delegated to the Assistant GATS Coordinator.

Academic and Application Review Committee

The Academic and Application Review Committee is made up of:

1. The Director of Education/Short Term Missions/Coordinator of GATS
2. The Assistant GATS Coordinator
3. The corresponding Regional Director
4. The corresponding Regional GATS Representative

This committee will make decisions concerning curriculum or academic discrepancies that may arise. It will also make final decisions concerning crediting to students transferring to a GATS school from another educational institution or Bible school.

Schools transitioning to the GATS curriculum will need a transitional plan to bring their current students into compliance with GATS policies and assess the possibility of past graduates being brought into the program. Since each situation is unique, the Academic Review Committee will consider each case individually.

New GATS membership applications can be approved by this committee when the Global Education Committee is not in session.

All inquiries should be submitted to the Coordinator of GATS at jpoitras@upci.org.

Membership

~Why do you use the term membership nation rather than membership school?

There is only one application to GATS per nation. This application covers all national training programs, rather than submitting an application for each school and training program.

We also want to ensure that the school or training program has permission from its national board before processing an application. A local church could be authorized/approved, while other schools nationwide are not involved. However, we would still need approval from the national or general board of the nation.

~What are the requirements for becoming a membership nation of GATS?

“Training is the most effective way to reach a nation”

Brad Thompson
Missionary

Any nation can apply, and the application should typically come from and through the national board.

Application is made by completing the provided application forms. Application forms are available on the GATS website under the “Resource” tab or in “Appendix A” of this manual.

Each membership nation pledges to adopt the GATS curriculum, which is defined as all required subjects, suggested electives, total classroom hours, and course objectives set forth by GATS.

Membership nations must comply with the teacher qualifications stipulated by GATS and provide all required reports and fees to maintain membership.

~What are the teacher qualifications required by GATS?

Teachers must have a godly character and adhere to the International Articles of Faith of the UPCI.

They should demonstrate competence in one’s discipline (area of instruction).

Teachers should demonstrate an ability to communicate effectively, an aptitude for progress, and maintain a genuine spiritual life.

They should have academic and work-life experience credentials. Although each teacher is recommended to be a Bible school graduate, this is not always possible or practical.

A personal growth plan for each teacher, including present credentials and future academic plans, is required with the application to GATS. (See Appendix B)

GATS Faculty Development Seminars should be provided in each region, subregion, cluster nation, or within individual countries to elevate teachers throughout the region. We strongly encourage every nation with a training program to participate annually in faculty development.

~What is the procedure for obtaining membership status?

Intent Status ~

To initiate the application process, a potential membership nation or school should send a “letter of intent” to the Director of Education/Short-term Missions at jpoitras@upci.org. The nation could also begin this process by sending the application form and other pertinent documents.

Applicant Status ~

The coordinator screens the forms upon receipt of the application. If adjustments are needed, the coordinator makes appropriate comments and returns the application or explanation letter to the applicant nation.

If the application appears to be complete, a letter will be sent to the applying nation stating that the application has been received, is on file, and will be reviewed by the Global Education Committee for approval into membership status. Applications received throughout the year when the Global Education Committee is not in session are approved by the Application Review Committee. This comprises the Director of Education/Short-term Missions, the Assistant Coordinator of GATS, the corresponding Regional GATS Representative, and the Regional Director.

Once the application has been received, and until it is approved, the applying nation is viewed as having applicant status with GATS.

Membership Status ~

When approval is given, a certificate verifying membership will be sent to the applying nation.

Status is subject to reevaluation every three years for continued compliance with GATS requirements. Under the “Resource” tab on the GATS website, and in “Appendix C” of this manual, there is a Membership Reevaluation form that the national Bible School administrator should fill out. It must be signed by the Bible School administrator and the superintendent/president of the UPC in said country. This communication should be sent to the GATS representative of the region, who will verify that everything is in order and then send it to gats@upci.org.

If problems become evident at any time, the membership nation and its training programs will be advised and allowed to correct them as per the recommendations of the GATS administration. The membership nation will be given three months to comply. Failure to maintain the GATS standards may result in the removal of membership status.

Inactive Status ~

1. A training program that becomes inactive or non-compliant will be termed “inactive.”
2. Should the period of inactivity exceed two years, a new application must be presented for approval.
3. If the inactivity covers less than two years, the membership nation would need to confirm compliance with GATS, provide a scope and sequence, and list of its faculty along with their qualifications.

Annual Report ~

An annual report is required to verify compliance with GATS standards. This report allows membership nations to reaffirm they are operating according to GATS guidelines. The Annual Field Report can serve this purpose if it indicates that you are using the GATS curriculum on the form. Any changes in curriculum, faculty, and faculty qualifications should be sent to gats@upci.org.

~What provision is there for nations that may need time to transition to GATS?

Membership status will be allowed if the applying nation indicates a transitional process and works diligently toward it.

~How can we receive a copy of the GATS membership application?

To receive an electronic copy, email GATS@upci.org or visit <http://gatsonline.org> under the “Resource” tab. The current application fee is USD 100.00, and payment or instructions for payment should accompany the application.

~Where do we send the application?

GATS Curriculum

The Quest for Excellence

Our staff at GATS takes developing cutting-edge curricula seriously. Jim Poitras, in Achieving Excellence in Bible School Administration, stated, “There is tremendous value in a well-conceived curriculum. It forces us to focus on the needs, objectives, and reasons for the school’s existence. Jesus said, “Suppose one of you wants to build a tower. Will he not first sit down and estimate the cost...” (Luke 14:28, NIV). Someone has said, “If you fail to plan, you plan to fail.” Excellence is never an accident. A carefully planned curriculum ascertains what the school is trying to accomplish and determines: (a) why? (b) when? (c) where? (d) who? and (d) how? It ensures a balance between curriculum content and experience, between learning and doing. Truth transforms (John 17:17). D. L. Moody said, “The Bible was not given to increase our knowledge but to change our lives.” A good curriculum and comprehensive objectives require careful planning, implementation, evaluation, and continuous improvement. Curriculum comes from a Latin word that means “racecourse” and shares the same root word as “current” – the flow of water moving in the same direction. A well-planned curriculum will enable students to run the race, move in the right direction, reach their goals, and say with Paul, “...I have finished my course...” (2 Timothy 4:7, KJV).

At GATS, we are also involved in pursuing a quality curriculum. In that race, there is no finish line. It is a daily quest for continuous improvement. A school armed with a vision, solid objectives, an excellent curriculum, a quality academic dean or principal, dedicated faculty, and diligent students who explore academic excellence can one day say, “I have fought a good fight, I have finished my course, I have kept the faith” (2 Timothy 4:6-7, KJV). They will hear the Master Teacher respond, “Well done!” (Matthew 25:21, KJV).

Policy for Changes to Core Curriculum

~Areas of Possible Changes

- 1) Title
- 2) Hours
- 3) Textbooks
- 4) Course Outline
- 5) Change the level
- 6) Addition or deletion of courses

~ The Process

- 1) A proposal for change would be submitted to the Curriculum Development Committee for consideration and review.
- 2) The Curriculum Development Committee would then submit their proposal to the Global Education Committee for discussion.
- 3) The Global Education Committee would approve any changes to the core curriculum proposal.

~Implementation

- 1) Communicate all changes to the Global Missions Administrative Committee (GMAC) and nations/schools.
- 2) Update all GATS documents to reflect the changes.

Levels of Study

GATS offers five levels of education with a core curriculum based on required classroom hours, clearly stated course objectives, and recommended textbooks.

Certificate of Theology in Foundational Biblical Studies	Basic Bible Knowledge	150 Classroom Hours
Diploma of Ministerial Development Intermediate Diploma Level	Ministerial Development 1	600 Classroom Hours
Associate of Theology Degree	Ministerial Development 2	750 Classroom Hours
Bachelor of Theology Degree	Educators/Leaders	510 Classroom Hours

A total of 1,500 classroom hours would merit an associate degree, and a total of 2,010 classroom hours would earn a bachelor's degree. This is in keeping with colleges' standard requirements.

The bachelor's degree program includes credit for various options of work-life experience, the GATS associate degree or its equivalent, and a thesis. The bachelor's degree level is currently being launched in several nations.

4. Work-Life Experience

Up to 90 classroom hours for the initial program are allotted to work-life experience. This will be reviewed as the program advances. Currently, the bachelor's degree program is specifically designed for the initial target group of Bible school instructors and national leaders, after which it drops in half to a maximum of 45 classroom hours.

Up to 90 classroom hours of electives may be used with work-life experience, but it must be properly documented using the layout and forms provided. This provision is specifically designed for the original target group of Bible School Instructors and National Church leaders who have completed the associate degree and have been waiting for a bachelor's degree for some time. After this group has completed their work, the amount of time allowed using work-life experience will drop to 45 classroom hours and three credits.

GATS provides forms for tracking and reporting work-life experience. They are available on the GATS website, in "Appendix D" at the back of this manual, or by contacting gats@upci.org.

Thesis

A thesis is the crowning achievement of the Bible school's bachelor program, propelling students into their future. It requires them to focus on not only what they have accomplished but also what they envision for their future in ministry. This will serve as a strategic plan to guide the student forward in effective ministry.

1. Historical review of the UPCI church in their hometown/section/district/nation (2,000 – 2,500 words).
2. A personal assessment of how their Bible school education has equipped them mentally and spiritually for ministry (2,000 – 2,500 words).
3. A personal vision (the next five years) of how they believe God will use their ministry in the future of the growing church in their nation (2,000 – 2,500 words).

This computes into a paper consisting of:

- 6,000 words minimum to 7,500 words maximum.
- 24-30 pages (double-spaced) maximum with a font size of 12.
- Those working on a thesis must submit reports periodically to their supervisor. The time of meeting with the supervisor will be determined by the administration.
- Work on the thesis should commence at the start of the final year of bachelor's degree study.
- The thesis must be completed at least 2 months before the graduation date. This gives time for evaluation of the thesis work.
- In the progress report and final assessment, the supervisor should provide the student with one of the following comments: Excellent, Meets Requirements, Needs Improvement, or Failed.
- The final evaluation will be pass/fail.
- Thesis would cover 90 classroom hours.

Guidelines for Thesis Preparation

Bio Sketch (1 week) ~

Begin with a personal testimony of the student including the following points:

- 1) What is your family background?
- 2) Where did you hear about this church?
- 3) Who encouraged you?
- 4) What helped you learn of this truth?
- 5) What was your conversion experience?
- 6) What have been your ministry opportunities to date?
- 7) What is your calling?
- 8) What is your ministerial vision?

Survey of Resources (1 month) ~

This is where you will find information about your local church, section, or nation.

- 1) Who is founder?
- 2) Who are the church elders?
- 3) Are there any church records?
- 4) What are the strengths of the church?
- 5) How long has the church been active?

(3 months to do actual interviews and research.)

Formulate Title ~

The title will develop from the information gathered.

- 1) The title needs to reflect the content.
- 2) The title needs to reflect the information received.

Thesis Statement ~

This is a statement of what you hope to achieve with the writing of this thesis. The following is an example of a possible thesis statement:

This thesis will show how the historical information I discovered influences my ministry. It will describe what has been gleaned from my program concentration of study based on my calling, vision, and ministry. It will also define the achievable goals I propose to accomplish through my ministry in the next five years.

Scriptural Foundations for 21st Century Church/Ministry (1 month)

- 1) Support your writing with scripture.
- 2) Relate these scriptures to you, your church, and your ministry today.

Outline (1 month) ~

This is the actual writing using research notes that relate to objectives.

Introduction ~

Include the thesis statement in your Introduction, plus one paragraph relating to materials and methods used for the writing of the thesis.

Body (12 months) ~

(There is a need for periodic check-ins with an advisor to monitor progress and rewrites)

- 1) How has the historical information you discovered influenced your ministry?
- 2) What have you gleaned from your program concentration of study based on your vision, mission, program, and action?
- 3) What achievable goals do you propose to accomplish through your ministry?

- 4) Where were you/where are you/where are you going as the desired outcome of your writing?
- 5) Scriptural references should be woven into this section with comparisons applied to the church today.

Conclusion ~

This will consist of a commitment statement to carry out the findings of your thesis and accomplish the mission according to what you know and am capable of now.

Publish (8 weeks) ~

- 1) Sufficient time to get the thesis ready for print and suitable for sharing.
- 2) Printed in church paper/newsletters.
- 3) Printed out for classmates/administration/church leaders.

The school administrator needs a checklist form filled out by the faculty advisor with a signature of completion for every segment of the thesis work. This form should be formatted with the above information and stipulations.

GATS Curriculum Questions

~Where can one find the detailed program of study for the various levels?

The program of study for the various levels is in the portion of this manual marked “Curriculum Structure for GATS.” It can also be found on the GATS websites.

~Where can one find the course outlines for each course, along with copies of recommended textbooks?

These are posted in the password-protected portion under the Academic tab of www.gatsonline.org. The main page of our English website has links to the Spanish, French, and Portuguese websites. Requests for Russian, Hindi, Arabic, and other languages can be made to gats@upci.org.

~How does a membership nation receive copies of recommended textbooks?

Recommended textbooks are available to download from the GATS websites. These materials are password-protected and only for use outside of North America. If no book is available on the website, please contact gats@upci.org to see what materials we have to offer or recommend.

GATS has an agreement with Africa Aflame and Global Missions to print any of their books without royalty being paid.

The Pentecostal Publishing House has an agreement with nominal fees for printing some of their books. All inquiries should be made to jpoitras@upci.org. Terms of this agreement include:

1. The published products can only be distributed overseas.
2. Each product must carry the appropriate logos, copyright notices, credit lines, and the location where these items were printed.
3. Each item can be translated, and the artwork can be altered to make the material relevant to each culture, but the doctrinal message cannot be altered in any way.
4. Five copies of each printed work must be sent to the Pentecostal Publishing House for the files of those departments involved.
5. One electronic copy of the translated work shall be sent to the Pentecostal Publishing House for possible use in the future.

Most of our recommended textbooks are posted on the English GATS website and the corresponding replica websites in major world languages. If you cannot locate a textbook or resource, please contact GATS@upci.org.

We also serve as a resource center for your training needs. Contact us with any questions about textbook materials, supplementary resources, or Course Packet resources for our courses. We are here to help you.

~Does a Bible School have to use the recommended textbook for every course?

A Bible School may prefer a textbook not recommended by GATS. If the course objectives and required classroom hours are met, that is no problem.

~What is the passing grade for the GATS programs?

The passing grade is 70%. Students complete and pass the required number of classroom hours of instruction.

All core curriculum courses need to be passed or repeated until passed. When a student fails (or appears to be failing) a core curriculum course, remedial exercises or testing can be provided. A student's highest grade on a remedial exercise, test, exam, or course would be 70%.

~What is the attendance policy of GATS?

Students can only miss up to 10% of the classroom hours. Beyond that, a doctor's excuse is required. This should be brought to the school's administration. The school administration would certify/verify the student's condition and how long they must be away. Any variation to this policy must be presented to the Regional GATS Representative and approved by the GATS Academic Review Committee.

Attendance records should be kept for each subject. Students missing more than the permissible number of classroom hours will receive "incomplete" on their transcript for the applicable course.

"GATS
purposefully promotes the pursuit of excellence by raising the academic standard in this world-class, innovative program."

Roger Buckland
Missionary

~What are the minimum requirements for evaluation for each course?

Instructors should implement various evaluation methods, including (but not limited to) exams, tests, quizzes, essays, papers, assignments, homework, and practical exercises. More than one test or procedure is needed to determine whether a student has learned the material. At least two forms of evaluation must be implemented for every course.

~Are examination weeks considered as classroom hours?

The examination hours can be counted as part of the required hours for the course.

~What does GATS consider to be a Classroom-Hour?

Classroom hours are considered to be a minimum of 50 minutes in length.

~Who issues Credentials, Certificates, Diplomas, and Degrees?

The GATS office will extend Credentials, Certificates, Diplomas, and Degrees when requested by individual nations. They will be printed at World Headquarters and mailed to the address provided.

Sometimes, it may be easier for the local Bible School to print the document on-site. In that case, the GATS office would send a PDF of the individual documents. GATS can only provide this service for the Certificate and Diploma Level of GATS. It is important to remember that the same process must be followed for PDF documents as for hard copies.

A Bible school may opt not to extend documents provided by GATS to its graduates. If administrators want to include the GATS logo on their local document, they can download it from the “Resource” tab on the GATS website. If they would like a GATS seal to place on their local graduation documents, please contact gats@upci.org.

The following is very important when receiving documents, certificates, diplomas, and degrees:

1. The GATS website has certificate, diploma, and degree request forms under the “Resource” tab. The corresponding form must be filled out with no spaces left blank. These request forms are also located in “Appendix E” of this manual.
2. The request form and corresponding student transcripts should be emailed to your Regional or Subregional GATS Representative.
3. The school’s name, nation, and date must be written clearly in the language and format the school wants to use for the documents. Please also ensure that the student names are exactly written as you want them to appear on the documents.
4. It is also essential that the request forms and transcripts are sent with a minimum of 6 weeks' anticipation before the documents are needed in your nation.
5. GATS prefers to send the documents via FedEx. Please include a physical address on the request form.
6. The courses on the transcripts must be clearly marked using easily understood terms. We must verify that all core curriculum subjects have been covered using the required classroom hours. GATS transcript forms are available under the “Resource” tab should a school wish to use them.
7. Transcripts should verify that each required subject has been passed with a minimum of 70%.
8. Your GATS representative will verify that all the information is correct and will proceed to send the documents to the GATS office for printing approval.

~Is a fee for certificates and degrees required?

There will be a nominal fee for certificates or degrees, folders, and shipping.

Shipping will be charged to the nation's field account, supervising missionary, or the local Bible school.

~How often should we send student transcripts to GATS?

Completed student transcripts, along with the corresponding graduation document request form, must be sent to the GATS office six weeks before the certificates or degrees are needed for graduation. The policy provides that transcripts be released in the final semester of an academic program with the understanding that the local school will withhold the academic credential if the student fails to meet the requirements. The local administration should write "pending" in place of a grade for a course that is being undertaken in the final semester and not available at the time of sending the transcript.

Care should be taken to indicate the course names, classroom hours attempted, classroom hours achieved, and the final grade for each course indicated on the transcript.

It is also required that the final transcript be sent to the GATS administration quickly after the final semester is completed.

We need to know each student's name as it should appear on the academic credential/certificate/diploma/degree, the name of the school, the country, and the graduation date in the language that the school desires to have the document printed in.

The request forms are on the GATS website under the "Resource" tab. Please be advised that the GATS office will copy and paste names and all information exactly as sent.

~Is it required to use the student transcript form provided by GATS?

Schools may design their own student transcript forms and send them to us. When using a local school's transcript form, it is essential to indicate course names used by GATS or some interpretation comment. Otherwise, the release of transcripts could be delayed in back-and-forth correspondence to verify how the school's selection of course names matches the content of the GATS curriculum structure. GATS provides bilingual transcript forms which makes it easier for both the nation and GATS administration.

~Are you obligated to use electives provided in the listing by GATS?

A listing of possible elective courses is provided for you. You may receive approval to add electives to this list for your training programs. Send requests for approval to GATS@upci.org or consult with your Regional or Subregional GATS Representative.

~ What happens when a nation does not have a full-time training program but wants to be part of GATS?

That is the beauty of GATS. It is based on classroom hours, not credit hours, the number of years it takes to complete the program, and so forth.

Even small works, or those where the UPCI is just starting, can be involved in GATS. In such cases, one or more courses could be taken at a time, and records of grades could be kept. Classes can be held in traditional Bible school settings or as weekend or evening classes.

~ What is the policy for students transferring to GATS from other Bible School programs? (GEC 2010 pg. 42-43)

1. All cases would be referred to the Academic Review Committee.
2. Provision is made for students enrolled and completing programs in a UPCI Bible college and who would like to receive a certificate, diploma, or degree from the Global Association of Theological Studies.
3. A GATS priority is for teachers, prospective teachers, and leadership within a nation to be brought up to the highest level of training/education the nation offers.
4. Courses not covered in previous education programs but required by GATS would need to be covered.
5. An exemption may be considered for courses objectively covered, but where classroom hours, grades, or the number of evaluation methods utilized by the course instructor may be below our standards.
6. A proposal needs to be presented by the school director. This needs to be sent to the GATS Coordinator and will be entertained by the Academic Review Committee.

Planting People; Growing Giants

I'm often asked, "What business are you in?" I sometimes ponder what reaction I'd get if I said, "I'm in the people-growing business." Ministers are grown. Students don't arrive in our Bible school classrooms as spiritual giants. They come with willing hearts and pass through a spiritual formation and maturation process. Effective Bible school programs enable students to reach their maximum potential. We're equipping others for works of service in God's kingdom (Ephesians 4:12) and in apostolic ministry. Like Robert Dale once said, we're "sowing seeds of ministry and growing believers toward leadership." That is the sole purpose behind the Global Association of Theological Studies. Like a sign I saw, "We build Pentecostal leaders to grow Pentecostal churches." Spiritual growth is one of our four core values. We value helping people grow!

GATS is made up of five academic programs, in multiple languages, with a growing edge: certificate, intermediate diploma, diploma, associate degree, bachelor degree; distance education and faculty development are also being undertaken. I guess you could really say we have seven academic programs and endorse one or two others. It's a gigantic project encompassing over one hundred subjects that are being revised, written, and translated into major world languages. I used to think of it as a mountain to chip away at; an obstacle. Now, I'm changing my attitude. It's an opportunity, a mighty tree that we are growing. Its encircling shade provides a global education covering. GATS causes us to stretch heavenward to our supplying God; outward to a waiting, wanting world. It calls us to continuously improve.

In classes and among staff we must create a "culture of growth." It's the way we do things around here. Involvement with Faculty Development provides over seventy opportunities to grow. New faculty development courses are being written on a continual basis. Instructors only truly help others reach maximum potential when they have attempted to reach it themselves.

I sometimes lament when I see other churches with more developed educational programs than ours. We can make a difference. John Maxwell in Go for Gold mentions a nursery in Canada that displays a sign on its wall: "The best time to plant a tree is twenty-five years ago...The second best time is today." We hope you will avidly support GATS and its programs. Come, grow with us!

Our work will affect long after we're gone. A Greek proverb says, "A society grows great when old men plant trees whose shade they know they shall never sit in." Be deliberate at leaving a mark on this planet, to do something that imparts seeds of truth to the next generation, and impacts eternity for our world. Someone once said, "If your vision is for a year, plant wheat; if your vision is for a decade, plant trees; but if your vision is for a lifetime, plant men." Because of your help with GATS, when a friend asks, "What have you done today?" thankfully respond, "I saw someone grow today and I helped. I've been planting people; growing giants!"

These ninety-minute lessons are developed in digital format and may be printed in your nation. They also have PowerPoints available. Each lesson contains clearly outlined lesson objectives, the lesson text, and an evaluation. At the end of each of the eighteen lessons, a certificate can be issued for successfully completing that level of the course. Request forms for the certificates can be downloaded under the “Resource” tab. The lessons and PowerPoints are all available on the GATS website under the Faculty Development tab.

Jim Poitras, in Achieving Excellence in Bible School Administration, wrote: “Ongoing faculty development is a priority. Each staff member needs to be involved in life-long learning and have a personal growth plan. A faculty member should strive for excellence in their area of concentration. Specialization is essential in current educational trends. Continuing education produces faculty that are experts and content specialists who are both effective and on the cutting edge of theological education within the culture. New technology, improved teaching methods, and an understanding of the learning styles of adult learners all serve to better train the trainer. In faculty development, we ask: (a) What are we doing? (b) How well are we doing? (c) How can we improve what we are doing? (Rita J Wolotkiewicz, 1980, 210) Approaches to faculty development may include (a) distance education options; (b) faculty retreats; (c) seminars; (d) professional development days; (e) subregional faculty development programs; (d) mini-courses; (e) visits to other schools (to learn what they are doing); (f) educational sabbaticals; (g) taking courses at local institutions of higher learning; (h) discussions/and brain-storming; and (i) articles, audio resources, or books—anything that promotes continuous improvement.”

~What are some of the subjects that could be studied in a Faculty Development program?

Subjects may include Christian education for adults, communication skills and methods, curriculum/instructional design, Bible school administration, educational measurement and evaluation, education psychology, teamwork, Bible study methods, ethics (professional conduct), cultural anthropology, cross-cultural communication, life-long learning, and so forth.

Any course that would assist in faculty training and equipping could be considered for a faculty development program.

Missionary

~Can credits earned in faculty development result in any certificate or degree?

Credits achieved in faculty development seminars may be used for teachers pursuing the GATS bachelor’s degree program. To do this, the student must be present during the teaching, and two forms of evaluation must be implemented, each graded with a 70% passing mark.

Lessons may also be used to satisfy the education option under work-life experience (to a maximum of 100 classroom hours). Please refer to the bachelor’s degree section of this policy to understand how this can be applied.

It is very important that the local Bible school maintains records of the Faculty Development Seminars, a list of students in attendance, and their grades for each lesson received.

A certificate may be issued for a given number of classroom hours and subjects completed.

~How may we find instructors for a faculty development seminar?

“The people perish for a lack of knowledge.
Teachers are the antidote.”

E.J. McDougall

Over 70 Global Educators (GE) are available to assist you. Contact your Regional GATS Representative, the Assistant Coordinator of GATS, or the Director of Education and Short-term Missions for the list of qualified Global Educators who are ready to serve in this capacity.

GATS Administrative Team email: gats@upci.org

~How is a faculty education program organized?

1. Contact your Subregional or Regional GATS Representative to set a date for a Faculty Development Seminar to begin the planning stage.

Seminars can be held in a variety of formats:

- a) Seminars can be planned from a one-day seminar to a week-long seminar. They can be held during the day, evenings, or weekends. GATS will adapt to the seminar culture of your nation or region.
  - b) Cluster nations (nations in proximity) or subregions may come together for such programs.
  - c) Individual nations bring their teachers to a central location.
  - d) Individual nations are strongly encouraged to bring their teachers together regularly for professional development.
  - e) Online faculty development seminars can be very effective.
2. You and your GATS Regional or Subregional Representative will decide on the seminar's location, schedule, and details.
  3. There are over 70 Global Educators who can be invited as guest instructors.
  4. The nations involved in the seminar must devise a plan for financing the event. An attendance fee could be charged; it could be part of the Bible school or national work's yearly budget or some other plan be put into place.
  5. The GATS Representatives and Global Educators will cover travel, lodging, and food expenses. They will not have additional funds to pay for the seminar expenses or help with the costs of the local missionaries or leaders.

GATS strongly believes that each membership nation should participate in an annual Faculty Development Seminar.

GATS Translations

GATS textbooks, course packs, and faculty development lessons will be translated into major world languages as approved by the Global Education Committee. If a nation desires to translate GATS material into other languages, please contact the GATS office at gats@upci.org for more information.

When deciding on adding a new language for official GATS translation purposes, the GEC must consider the total number of possible candidates for training in said language, not the total number of world speakers.

Currently, GATS is officially offering materials in English, French, Spanish, Russian, Arabic, Hindi and Mandarin. Materials have been translated into several other languages as well, but through the efforts of the corresponding nation. GATS will work with you in this process.

The process for translation is as follows:

1. It is highly recommended that the translators translate into their mothertongue.
2. The translation must be faithful to the original manuscript.
3. The translation should avoid colloquialisms/clichés.
4. The original format must be maintained through the translation.
5. Once the translation is complete, it must be carefully edited. A second party must proofread it on its merit (without comparison to the original manuscript) to ensure proper grammar, continuity, and clarity.
6. Final review: After completing steps one through five, someone qualified to check the translation for content accuracy with the original manuscript will conduct a final review.
7. If discrepancies are found in the document, it will be returned to the original translator for corrections and then steps five and six will be repeated.

All translations will come under the corresponding copyright of the English document.

All translations are in the GATS master file and may be available on request to GATS@upci.org.

Changes to GATS Policy

1. All requests to change to GATS policy will be sent to the Director of Education at jpoitras@upci.org.
  - a. The Director of Education will filter the policy changes before sending them to the Global Education Policy Committee.
2. The Director of Education would create a standing committee for change of policy consisting of five members:
  - a. Director of Education
  - b. Assistant GATS Coordinator
  - c. One Regional Director
  - d. One Regional GATS Representative
  - e. One other member from the GEC is to be appointed by the Director of Education and Short-term Missions.
3. The committee will study the policy change proposals and submit a decision to the Director of Education.
4. The Director of Education would request that the committee present its report during the GEC meeting, as the GEC is the approving body for changes to the GEC Policy.
5. The committee would be encouraged to use electronic methods to reduce operational expenses. The Director of Education could request that the committee meet one day before the GEC meeting. Additionally, if the Director of Education feels it is necessary, a meeting could be held one day after the GEC meeting.

The Current Policy Change Committee is: (GEC 2024)

Curriculum Development

Mission Statement

To create, assess, and re-evaluate all written materials needed for global Bible schools.

Objectives of the Curriculum Committee

1. To identify the needed materials to serve as primary and secondary textbooks for each course. To research and locate any possible existing materials that could be used for that course.
2. To set course objectives and textbook components.
3. To assign the writing of textbooks, set up a schedule of deadlines, and track each writer's progress within that specified time frame.
4. Evaluate the written manuscript and ensure that the editing is completed. This would include submitting it to the Editorial Division of the UPCI.
5. Depending on each course and its objectives, determine the needed materials for the course packs.
6. Coordinate the translation of materials into the major world languages as approved by the GEC.
7. To receive and evaluate quality materials in languages other than English to determine if they would meet the objectives and could be used by GATS Bible schools for a specific course. Determine if said material should be translated into English and other approved languages.

The Curriculum Committee shall consist of:

Permanent members.

1. The chair of the committee will be the Director of Education and Short-term Missions
2. The Co-Chair will be the Assistant Coordinator of GATS
3. Bro. Dorsey Burk – Textbook editor
4. The Translation Coordinator
5. Sis. Darline Royer, Consultant
6. Sis. Linda Poitras, Consultant

Rotating Members:

1. One Regional Director, as appointed by the GEC Committee
2. One of the Regional GATS Representatives (This person will also personify the voice of the missionary)
3. One North American Bible College/Seminary Representative
4. Up to two Professional Educators selected by the Chairman (taking into consideration GE representatives)

The five rotating members shall be appointed for a three-year term, but not to exclude the possibility of being reappointed for additional terms. These members shall be appointed in alternating years.

The Chairman has the right to invite others he/she desires to carry forth the needs of this committee as deemed necessary.

The Chairman shall bring a neutral person into the meeting to act as recording secretary and not use one of the members themselves to take minutes of the meeting. This person would be there for the sole purpose of taking the minutes, leaving all committee members free to participate in the decisions and discussions taking place.

Curriculum

Writing for the Curriculum Development

Welcome to the challenge of writing a textbook or lesson material for GATS. Your involvement will have a far-reaching impact as God’s Word is spread around the globe. You are truly taking the things you have learned and passing them along to faithful men and women who will be able to teach others (2 Timothy 2:2).

The writing guidelines contained in this document were proposed by the GATS Curriculum Development Committee and then approved by the Global Education Committee.

Some Things to Keep in Mind:

- The pronoun “I” should be avoided in writing lessons. Many different instructors may teach your material in other parts of the world and we want to make it easy for the instructor to teach it.
- Words like “Africa” or “Russia” should be minimized to give a broader perspective for your material. Making constant references needlessly may limit the use of your material. It would not be easy to use a lesson constantly referring to Ghana in another country, for example, Serbia.
- Illustrations should be chosen carefully to be relevant cross-culturally.
- Maximize the use of Bible Scriptures, themes, and stories.
- The level of writing should be simple. Write the Certificate and Diploma programs at the Grade Six to Grade Eight level or below. The high school level will work best for Associate, Bachelor, and Faculty education programs.

The Apostle Paul was an educated man. He sat at the feet of great instructors. Paul was intelligent. However, he could still get down to the level of understanding of the people he ministered to. This is the actual test of intelligence, the ability to get to the level of the people you are instructing.

Paul confessed, ...that in simplicity and godly sincerity, not with fleshly wisdom, but by the grace of God, we have had our conversation in the world, and more abundantly to you-ward. For we write none other things unto you... (2 Corinthians 1: 12-13, Emphasis mine).

“Seeing then that we have such hope, we use great plainness of speech” (2 Corinthians 3:12, KJV).

“And my speech and my preaching was not with enticing words of man's wisdom, but in demonstration of the Spirit and of power” (1 Corinthians 2:4, KJV, Emphasis mine).

There is a world that is waiting to hear from you. “Write...and make it plain” (Habakkuk 2:2, KJV).

1. Avoid clichés and “play on words” phrases.
2. All quotations or other sources must be appropriately documented.
3. To make your resource look professional, you should use the same fonts throughout your resource to make it look professional. You might want to work on a style guide in the beginning. A template option is available in Microsoft Word. This would help you keep the material layout uniform and consistent.
4. Microsoft Word is equipped with a “readability statistics” option. The Flesch-Kincaid Grade level score is determined by rating the average number of syllables per word and words per sentence. It rates the text on a U. S. grade-school level. This is part of the spelling and grammar check. Using this option will enable you to check the grade level of your material. For example, you can lower the grade level by going back and shortening a few sentences.
5. The King James Version is typically used. It is also appropriate to use another translation but (where applicable) maintain both versions within the document.
6. Universally accepted fonts (12 size) should be used by writers. A complementing font can be chosen for headings, callouts, and titles.

Checklist for Simplifying Material:

- Eliminate ‘hard words’ (words three syllables or more long)
- Explain the meanings, in a sentence or phrase, for technical words you feel readers will need help understanding.
- Shorten sentences that appear too long. Trim the fat from your writing. Don’t use three words when one word would do. Big minds use little words; little minds use big words.
- The most familiar words are ten short ones: the, of, to, a, in, that, it, is, I. They make up twenty-five percent of all written and spoken English.
- Put action in your verbs.
- Write to express, not impress.
- Make use of variety.
- Look at your writing from the point of view of the reader.
- Write unto others as you would be written to.

- Simplicity is hard to achieve. It is often the result of several drafts.
- Use short sentences and everyday words. A good goal is fifteen words per sentence, but some suggest 8 to 10 words per sentence.
- Repeat your main points to enhance comprehension.
- Avoid statistical data, graphs, and complex charts. Readers may find them challenging to understand.
- It is much harder to simplify than complicate.
- Basic readers need some white space, but more advanced readers can handle the densely packed text.
- Left justification is considered easier to read than full justification.
- Use upper and lower-case according to standard conventions. Typing text in all upper-case letters takes a lot of work to read.
- Edit and re-edit. Leave a couple of days between when you first write something and when you edit.
- Limit the amount of information that you present. Delete all information that is just nice to know. Too much information will turn the reader off. This does not mean you should provide “skeleton” material without meat. A skeleton is too slim. Some meat is just right. Too much meat tends toward too much fat. Inform, but don’t over-inform.
- Get others to proofread your material. The “tracking” option in Microsoft Word will allow others to proofread and make suggested changes to your document. When the document is returned, you can accept or reject each change.

Avoiding Plagiarism:

So, you are ready to write. You have diligently searched for information, read books on your subject, and trust God for inspiration. Your file folder is bulging with the goodies you have collected. Now, it is time to start writing. Which quotes will you use? Will it be a direct quotation? A paraphrase? Something translated into your own words? When do you provide credit? Use quotation marks?

In writing, we take ideas and words from other people. Proper credit should be given for all borrowed material. A large percentage of research material comes from information gathered from different sources and collected in the form of quotes. The remaining information comes from personal experience and knowledge. The writer’s task is to weave the research as they craft it into a lesson, story, or book that will become interesting, active, informative, and a blessing to the reader.

Since most research involves other people’s ideas, it is essential to properly quote, paraphrase, or credit the information we use from different sources. Proper credit should be given for information taken from both spoken and written sources, whether the information is considered copyrighted or not.

When quoting beyond what would be considered “fair use,” the author must obtain written permission from the copyright owner, usually the publisher. The author is responsible for requesting permission to quote from a copyrighted source.

Guidelines for Quotations:

A quotation is using someone’s words. When an author quotes and cites their source(s), they strengthen their writing. Place the words within quotation marks and document the source.

- It is common practice among most publishers and writers to quote a maximum of fifty consecutive words from a copyrighted source without obtaining permission. (“Word Aflame House Rules”) This can be done several times in your manuscript if you do not quote more than two hundred total words.
- As a general rule, use the guidelines outlined below to judge “fair use.” (This list is from the latest version of our UPCI House Rules.)
- Written permission from the copyright owner must be secured for:
  - Quotation of more than one line from any poem or song in copyright.
  - Quotation(s) of more than three hundred consecutive words from any work in copyright.
  - Quotation(s) totaling more than 5 percent of any work in copyright.
  - Quotation(s) from any one source representing more than 5 percent of the new publication.
  - Any diagrams, charts, figures, drawings, or maps taken from a copyrighted source.
- GATS endeavors to follow established guidelines (from Word Aflame Press and Word Aflame Publications) concerning quotations, plagiarism, and generally all “Word Aflame House Rules.”
- Some variations may result in guidelines needed to reach readers in developing nations.
- Only two lines should be used without obtaining permission when quoting from a song or poetry, only two lines.
- The Word Aflame Writer’s Booklet says it best: “We strongly encourage you to use extreme discretion in your use of other’s works. In editing, we have no way of eliminating material that has been unethically copied from other sources unless by coincidence we happened to be familiar with the source and would accidentally recognize it.”

Give Credit to Who Credit is Due:

Plagiarism is a big word that refers to a big problem. It is using someone’s work or writing, pretending it is one’s own, and not giving proper credit to the source. Taking and using writing that belongs to someone else is wrong without giving the owner credit. Where the information comes from should be clearly acknowledged.

An Internet resource entitled “Avoiding Plagiarism, Mastering the Art of Scholarship” (<http://sja.ucdavis.edu/avoid.htm>, accessed 10/27/01) explains how to avoid plagiarism:

1. If the exact words are used. You must use quotation marks and cite the source. This refers to both the spoken and written word.
2. Paraphrase is restating the author’s information in your own words. Credit should be given to the original author, but quotation marks are unnecessary. Paraphrase: using someone’s ideas but putting them in your own words. Read over your research carefully. Cover the text with your hand or close your research completely. Write out the idea in your own words without peeking. Use your own words and still allow the reader to know the source of your information.
3. Minor changes (such as changing or rearranging a few words) in the original material keep the work essentially the same as the original, and credit must be given.
4. A good practice is to cite and credit words, information, and ideas you use that are new to you, regardless of where you find them. This includes speeches, messages, the Internet, books, etc. “When in doubt, cite.”
5. You do not have to document material that is common or general knowledge. This refers to information that is generally known.

One standard method of giving credit to a source is identifying the information within the text. An example of giving credit within the document is James Poitras, in Acts God’s Training Manual for Today’s Church, which says, “We can write tracts and gospel messages in various languages for the people to understand. Even though God may not have called all of us to be pastors, evangelists, or missionaries, each of us can distribute the paper preachers.”

A bibliography should be attached to all textbooks or lessons. Our Editors will decide if the bibliography needs to be included in the publication (or maintained in our files). We follow a style listed in the Chicago Manual of Style, with the following information and order:

- Name of author (last name first)
- Title of book (in italics)
- City of publication
- Publishing Company
- Date of publication (year)
- Page number of quotation

Example:

Poitras, James. Acts: God's Training Manual for Today's Church. (Andalusia, AL; Writehand Publishing, 2001) p.24.

GATS Course Development Basics:

The GATS Curriculum Development Committee (2010) envisioned the following for each of our courses being written:

- Courses should be user-friendly for students and should possess a solid instructional design.
- There should be a logical progression from point to point.
- Major points and sub-points should be easy to locate and follow.
- Short lessons are preferred over long ones.
- There should be 'lesson in review' questions at the end of each lesson.
- Clip art, graphics, and diagrams can be used. Be careful of copyright requirements or restrictions for such use. Keep in mind that these have to be translated into several languages.
- Remember that the curriculum will be used cross-culturally.
- Suggested homework assignments or cooperative learning exercises should be more than just busy work but bridge the gap between learning and doing.
- Avoid mere personal opinion. Keep writing biblically rooted.
- We will use 8 ½ by 11 as the page format or size.
- Measurements should have the metric conversions beside them.
- Writers should let us know if resource materials are needed to assist in writing courses.

Components for Each Lesson:

The lesson structure for our courses is as follows:

- Lesson Number.
- Title/Topic.
- Key Scripture (as appropriate).
- Lesson objectives. It is preferred that this be kept within three objectives per lesson. Objectives serve as advance organizers and allow the student to know what is covered within the lesson.

- Citations should be within the text, with a bibliography at the end of the lesson or the book.
- The lesson length should consist of three to five pages of material, not including the study questions. This is a general guideline for lesson length. Some lessons may be a little longer if needed.
- Lengthy scriptural passages should be a reference only.
- There should be a strong introduction and conclusion. This allows the student to know where we are going, and once going there, it lets the student know where they have been.
- Study questions should be provided at the end of each lesson. Avoid fill-in-the-blank questions, which can be difficult when the material is translated into other languages.
- The author should provide answer keys for all lessons written.
- Double-spaced is preferred for editing purposes.
- An agreement will be made with writers that their work is under our copyright.
- An agreement could also be made for a writer to receive an honorarium.
- If previously written work by a writer is used, there should be an agreement on file.

Cover Design:

- Each level will have a standard cover, but the colors and graphics used will change depending on the level or the book.
- The following should be identified on the cover: GATS logo, Curriculum Level, and course name.
- A designer will handle the design of the cover and textbook, so it isn't the primary concern of the individual author.

GATS goal is to follow the Word Aflame Rules as much as possible.

The Book of Acts

Classroom Hours:

24 (minimum)

Description/Overview:

This course reveals the continuing ministry of the Lord Jesus Christ in the world through the Holy Spirit and God-called men and women. It assists the student in understanding the historical and doctrinal value of the Book of Acts. The Church marches forward despite persecution, personal setbacks, trials, and difficulties. The unchanging truths and principles gleaned from Acts will be taught to better equip the students for the task of world evangelism. Acts is God's training manual for today's church and will motivate believers to evangelize, receive an understanding of the apostles' doctrine, and share it with others in supernatural power. Students will start out studying the Book of Acts and will hopefully end up living it.

Objectives:

At the end of this course of study, students will be able to:

1. Explain Luke's intent in writing Luke-Acts; identify and be familiar with the major event(s) of each chapter of the Book of Acts.
2. Prove, using Scriptures from Acts, that speaking in other tongues, as the Spirit gives the utterance is the initial, physical evidence of receiving the baptism of the Holy Spirit. Understand this is normative (expected, will happen) in every instance of someone being baptized in the Spirit from the Day of Pentecost to the second coming of Jesus Christ.
3. Trace the advance of the gospel throughout the Book of Acts and understand the role(s) of the Holy Spirit in accomplishing this.
4. Outline or identify church growth, church planting, evangelism, leadership development, missionary, cross-cultural outreach, prayer, and gifts of the Spirit principles and strategies found in Acts. Incorporate these into your ministry. Move beyond merely studying Acts to putting these strategies and principles into life practice. Practicing New Testament principles will produce New Testament results.
5. Show, explain or defend that Acts has a didactic (instructional, teaching) purpose rather than being merely a historical record of the early church. Acts is God's training manual for today's church.
6. Recall instances in Acts where baptism was done in the name of the Lord Jesus Christ. Adopt this practice personally. Defend its necessity.

7. Locate examples where preachers supplied further truth to serious seekers. Refuse to compromise apostolic doctrine. Speak the truth in love, taking people from where they are spiritually and showing them a more excellent way. Know the way, go the way, show the way.
8. Study the fellowship of the believers in Acts 2:42 – 47. Identify the pillars of the apostolic church, and express their continuing relevance in the contemporary church today.
9. Luke reveals what Jesus began to do and teach while on earth. Acts reveals what Jesus continues to do through His disciples. Possess a firm understanding of what Jesus longs to do in you and through you.
10. Acts tells of the journey of missions or evangelism. Identify the journeys of Peter, Phillip, and Paul.
